

The Reflector. THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1888. Official Paper of County and City.

Several carloads of sheep went east this afternoon, innocent victims of Democratic low tariff laws.

Yesterday afternoon the Santa Fe train set on fire and destroyed the magnificent orchard on the Harbottle place east of town.

"Invincible," the fast 4-year-old, lowered his record yesterday at the Driving Park. He brought it down from 2:25 to 2:23.

The farmers are rallying to the support of B. W. Peck, who as one of them they look upon with feelings of kindness and favor.

Miss Annie F. Chaffee, of Solomon City, was granted a State teacher's certificate by the State Superintendent at Topeka Saturday.

The ladies of Herington gave the Knights of Pythias a banquet Friday night. The fair sex seems to have a remarkable admiration for the Knights.

No Republican has a valid reason this year for scratching his ticket.

The Medaris case, in which Jas. and John Medaris were accused of forging a deed was, tried yesterday. The defendants were both acquitted and discharged.

The station agent of the Santa Fe at Navarre has been removed and the place made a flag station. We understand that the street cars and electric lights are still in full blast.

The ladies of Hope presented the K. of P. Lodge with an elegant bible Tuesday night. It is rumored that when the fair donors visited the lodge room to deliver the gift that they were rewarded by being permitted to gaze upon the goat.

O. L. Thisher, the prominent Chapman farmer, shipped a carload of mules to Western Louisiana Saturday evening. Dickinson county is furnishing stock to all sections of the Nation and is taking rank as one of the leading horse and mule producers of the West. The Kentucky blue-grass region is already eclipsed.

The train from here to Manchester Sunday was somewhat unfortunate in allowing sparks from the engine to ignite the grass on Mr. Wm. Young's farm between Talmage and Manchester burning up several tons of hay. The timely aid of several neighbors saved what would have been a still more severe loss, not only to Mr. Young but also to others.

Taken Home. An infant son of Edwin Zook and grandson of Samuel Zook died at the latter's residence north of the city Sunday. The funeral services were held this afternoon.

Cattle Shipment. Seventeen car loads of stock cattle were received last evening over the Santa Fe from Trinidad, Col. They will be followed in a few days by another train. Some of them will be wintered in this vicinity, which will make a good market for the surplus corn in this market.

District Court. The following cases were disposed of: C. E. Bradford vs. N. E. Bonderman, verdict for defendant. Palmer vs. Norman, continued to next term. Jacob Smith vs. J. W. Money was given to the jury.

Geo. Cowperthwait vs. city continued till Tuesday. The jury on the Money case returned a verdict for defendant. Court adjourned at 3 o'clock until Monday morning.

Taken Home. Monday was held at the Grace Reformed church funeral services over the remains of the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Orner, living in Newbern township, five miles south of town. The little one had been ill but a short time and died Tuesday afternoon, a victim of that relentless disease, typhoid fever. In the absence of the pastor, Rev. W. H. Zimmerman officiated and the childish form was laid to rest in the Abilene cemetery. The sorrowing parents have the heartfelt condolence of their numerous friends.

Farmers, if you want a man in the Legislature who will reduce the interest laws, vote for J. R. Burton.

River Brethren Love Feast. The River Brethren concluded a very interesting service at their church on North Buckeye Sunday evening. The ceremonies began Saturday morning with a sermon in German by Rev. Gish. He was followed by Rev. David Book in English. In the evening communion and feast-washing were held. Sunday was devoted to a love-feast and a sermon by Bishop Engle, who preached in English. There were several hundred River Brethren from all parts of the county present and all seemed to reap much spiritual benefit from the occasion.

REPUBLICAN DAY AT HOPE.

The Largest Political Demonstration Ever Held in South Dickinson.

The Hope Republicans advertised a grand rally Monday and, though it is well known that Hope never does things by halves, everybody was surprised at the abundant success of the occasion. The city was fairly ablaze with red, white and blue. Every store front along Main street was covered with bunting and adorned with flags.

There was the best of feeling and many of the Democrats hung out the national colors, also, with here and there a bandana, that looked as though it was ashamed of itself, to indicate that they were booming Hope and not Harrison. Men wore Harrison badges, the girls wore tri-colored sashes and even the dogs had red, white and blue ribbons around their necks.

The town was alive with visitors from all parts of South Dickinson and from Abilene who had come to make the affair a gala day for Republicanism.

At two o'clock Congressman John A. Anderson spoke from a gayly decorated stand erected for the occasion. Those who have heard him frequently, say that the effort was one of the best John A. ever made. His remarks were confined mostly to a discussion of the tariff question, but he took time to handle the President's pension vetoes and the villainous mail service from which we are suffering. He was frequently interrupted by applause and cheers.

At the close of the address he left for Herington where he spoke in the evening.

TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION

was formed. It was a brilliant one and when the paraders were once in line, the procession stretched nearly all over town.

Special features of the parade were: four bands—Hope Cornet, Dillon, New Basil, Hope drum corps; goddess of liberty and thirty-eight little girls representing the States; the Hope Carrie Harrison club, mounted; over 100 ladies and gentlemen on horseback; the young Americans, 300 strong; Harrison clubs from Dillon, Banner, Carlton and Hope, making a grand display of men on foot; firemen with cart; a large log cabin, as natural as life; floats and transparencies without number and several witty hits at administration weaknesses.

After the parade the crowds gathered around the stand, when began. Hon. W. P. Robinson, president of the Hope Republican club, first introduced C. C. Bittling, Jr., of Abilene. Mr. Bittling was fully equal to the occasion and opened the meeting with a rattling talk that sent several solid shots into the crowd and impressed upon the auditors the issues of the campaign in a way that was both convincing and entertaining.

Hon. F. P. Harkness followed and in a half hour's address made some excellent tariff points, impressing upon the audience the fallacy of free trade advocacy and making a strong plea for protection to American manufacturers, diversified industries and better wages for American workmen. Mr. Harkness was well received by the people and made votes by his straightforward mannerly address.

Hon. W. S. Stambaugh then took the rostrum and amid cheers began one of those inimitable speeches of his which take the people by storm. For nearly two hours he held the large crowd by his eloquence and gave one of the most scathing reviews of the administration's record and of the Democratic party's history we have yet heard. Some local Union Labor advocates who interrupted him were given a dose that they will not soon forget.

The Hope glee club furnished vocal music during the day. Altogether the rally was a grand success and made the large Democratic meeting of Saturday, Oct. 20th, seem insignificant by contrast. The Republicans outdid their opponents in display, in parade, in speaking, in numbers and in enthusiasm.

A Distinguished Party.

The following party of distinguished Republicans on their way from the big rally at Minneapolis, alighted from the noon train: U. S. Senator P. B. Plumb, Mr. Mohler, secretary State board of agriculture, Judge W. A. Johnston, Judge Horton, Judge Holt, Gov. L. U. Humphrey, Ex-Congressman Lewis Hanback, Chas. S. Gleed, Topeka; Chas. A. Norton, Beloit; Major J. K. Hudson, Topeka Capital; Dr. Bishop, Salina; Capt. H. D. Baker, Salina; Harper Cunningham, Capt. J. B. Rowley, the heavy weight of the K. C. Journal; Capt. Quintin Campbell, correspondent of the K. C. Journal.

One of the finest residence properties in Abilene—in the handsomest and healthiest part of the city—is offered for sale at an astonishingly low price. Three-acre lots, good house, barn, fruit-trees, etc.—overlooks the city, valley and surrounding country in all directions—magnificent view. No other place half as good, for the money, can be found in our beautiful city. Here is the best bargain, for the right purchaser, offered in Abilene. Inquire of O. L. Moore or Homer W. Wilson.

HIAWATHA FOR HARRISON.

A Lively Meeting and Joint Discussion Saturday Night.

When the Abilene speakers who had been advertised to address the people of Hiawatha, arrived at their destination Saturday night they found not only a large audience in attendance but found also some Union Labor speakers on the ground determined to force their way into the meeting. The Laborites had attempted to hold a meeting the first of the week and could get nobody to attend, so they took advantage of the Republican meeting to get somebody to talk to.

The Republicans, though recognizing that the Labor fellows had no business in the meeting, inasmuch as they had not been invited, nevertheless agreed to divide time with them and have a joint discussion of the political questions of the day.

Mr. Chambers presided and introduced L. F. Smith, the Union Labor candidate for State Senator. Smith devoted most of his time to a stale rehash of the old Greenback party's doctrine and abuse of his opponent, Harkness. O. L. Moore followed him and by a solid array of facts and argument showing the fallacy of defunct greenbackism, and then proceeded to treat the Union Labor party to a dose of statistics that was sufficient to do Smith up in good shape. Mr. Moore then devoted his time to a logical and unanswerable discussion of the living issues of the day, devoting his arguments principally to the fallacies of Democratic tariff reform. B. M. Anderson was the next speaker and he worked off a sickly, sentimental wall about the suffering and calamity of Dickinson county. J. P. Campbell was fully equal to the occasion and made the argument(?) of Anderson look very sick. The discussion was a grand victory for the Republican speakers and the Union Laborites were about the sickest missionaries that ever got snowed under. They demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of the hearers their paucity of ideas and inability to offer any valid argument for their party.

The Republicans of Rinehart township are "all right" for the straight Republican ticket and every appearance of Union Labor orators in the vicinity increases the feeling for Republicanism.

Look out for Democratic lies on the eve of election when too late to be answered by Republicans.

Political Chat.

W. S. Anderson is practically elected already. His opponent is cutting no figure whatever in the campaign.

The Abilene Harrison and Morton glee club are winning laurels by their fine singing. They are in much demand.

John W. Gibson is a candidate of whom the 69th district may well be proud. He is "without fear and without reproach."

Is Mr. Malott going to pledge himself to work for lower interest laws? He has not yet done so and apparently does not intend to.

There is a growing disgust with the Union Labor windbags. The party will come out away at the lower end of the list next Tuesday.

A striking transparency in the Hope rally procession said: "Vote the straight ticket if it is a mile long." That is the watchword for this year. Let every Republican observe the rule.

The high school commissioners are important officials in Dickinson county this year. Messrs. Ellison and Hoag are gentlemen of unquestioned worth and should receive overwhelming majorities.

B. M. Anderson, the U. L. candidate for Representative in the 69th district, has issued a "proclamation" to the people. It is about as long as the President's message and about as idiotic in its statements.

Dickinson county never had a better commissioner than J. W. Baker and the second district will put him again on the board by more than the former majority. We are glad of it; for it proves that he is appreciated.

J. W. Gibson is in every way the equal of his competitor for Representative in the 69th district. Then he is a Republican and for that reason alone he is entitled to the hearty support of every voter in his district.

One of the Democratic campaign lies that has been put forth is that the Republican candidate for probate judge is L. A. Peck, the Carlton merchant who failed in business some time ago. It does not take a very extensive knowledge to discriminate between B. W. Peck, the farmer and school teacher, and L. A. Peck, the merchant, but the uninformed in distant parts of the county are thus being imposed upon.

The registration books for the city closed Friday at 8 p. m. The following is a recapitulation of the complete result:

A BRIGHT LIFE ENDED.

Death of Mrs. M. C. Hemenway, of Hope, at Ellinwood, Kas.

Sad news was received Friday afternoon in the shape of a telegram from M. C. Hemenway at Ellinwood announcing the death of his wife at that place this morning. Mrs. Hemenway went from her home, Hope, about two weeks ago on a visit to friends in Ellinwood. She was taken ill with pneumonia and on Tuesday her husband was called to her bedside. Her death took place, as stated, this morning.

Mrs. H. was one of the best known and most popular ladies of the county. She was the only daughter of Samuel Channon, formerly a prominent farmer of Southeast Dickinson but now of Lost Springs, and came here with her parents when quite young. Gussie was a bright girl, vivacious, attractive and accomplished and made friends everywhere. For a time she was a teacher in the county schools. About seven years ago she married M. C. Hemenway and the young couple moved to Ellinwood, where Mr. H. was afterward engaged in business. In 1886 they came to Hope where they have since resided. Mrs. H. was a sister-in-law of Mrs. E. C. Adams and a relative of Mrs. F. A. White, of Abilene, and the families of A. M. Cray and C. M. Teats, of Hope. Two children are by her deceased left motherless. Mr. Hemenway is now a prominent merchant of Hope and proprietor of the Hope Dispatch.

This sad death removes from earth a kind and devoted christian wife and mother and a much-loved neighbor and friend. All who knew her admired her for her many noble qualities of intellect and heart.

Friends, in common with her scores of friends, extend to the sorrowing relatives, earnest and sincere sympathy in their sad bereavement.

The remains were brought to Abilene over the Rock Island Saturday. The funeral services were held in the M. E. church, Rev. Zimmerman officiating, and the interment was made in the Abilene cemetery.

The Catholic Fair.

The last night of the fair, Saturday, was the occasion of another large attendance. The voting on the various propositions and the sale of the chances on articles went off merrily and goods at the booths were sold faster than on any other night. The ladies and gentlemen in charge had all they could do to wait on the crowds, and it was close on the midnight hour before the end of the contests came and those in attendance were dismissed.

The following were among the prize winners: $250 phaeton, Mrs. T. C. McInerney; silver mug, Frank Branner; sofa pillow, P. J. Berry; oil painting and plush slippers, J. J. Berry; banner, W. F. Hanaghan; fruit dish, Thomas Kirby; table scarf, Robt. Kaine; table scarf, M. Hogan; castor, Robt. Kaine; pitcher, Mr. Long; whip, Wm. McMahon; apron, A. W. Rice; banner, F. L. Hirsh; sofa pillow, Pat Bonfield; Banner city; clock, Mrs. Boles; Chapman; plush rocker, Mamie Erwin; Chapman; ottoman, John T. Prendergast; lady's hat, Mrs. Landreth; gentleman's hat, E. C. Dowling; wringer, Mrs. Moneghan; plush covered mirror, Mrs. Mahoney; water set, Mrs. Hogan; water set, John Nash.

The pitcher voted to the most popular druggist was taken in by C. D. Barnes.

The pen and holder was secured by S. K. Strother.

The fair was a most successful one and reflects great credit upon the ladies who carried it on. The receipts were $1,127.15 and as the expenses will not be more than $200 the society will net a handsome sum. The proceeds will go to the Sisters' college for furnishing and expenses. In so good a cause it is a matter for congratulation that the public responded so heartily.
